INTERESTING LAW CASE.

The world is already acquainted with the case and character of Mr. Andrew Broaddus, of Carolina County—a man of cousum nate eloquence in his calling. Two or three years ago, he wedded a lady, who was a sister of his first wife. This excited much conversation at the time, and the propriety of the law, which forbid it, was variously and seriously canvassed. The matter was bro't into the public papers; and finally at the instance of some persons, a bill was filed by the Attorney Gen. of the Senate, before the Court of Chancery for this District. The result of that investigation is given in the following statement. "You will perceive (said the gentleman who handed it for publication,) that there was no objection to the Act of Assemby, so far as it restrained marriages within certain degrees; nor to the power of the legislature, to confer jurisdiction of such cases, on the courts of Chancery; but the objection went to the mode of trial, and upon that ground, the jurisdiction was denied; had the legislature, in conferring jurisdiction upon the court of Chancery, exempted the defendants from any prosecution, on account of their answering, and left it with the court, to declare the nullity of such marriages, and to execute its sentence, upon the principles of the court, there could have been no objection to the Act.

In the Superior court of Chancery, held at Richmond, Jan. 1817.

The Attorney general Pf. vs. And. and Jane C. Broaddus, Defendants. } Upon an information.

The female defendant, being the sister of the other defendant's former wife, the information, in the usual form of pleading, charged the defendants with having intermarried contrary to one of the provisions of 15th sect. of the act, concerning marriages, in the revised Code, page , and concluded in the usual form in conformity with the provisions the act; so much of that section authorised the said information, in these words: "If any man hath married his wife's sister, every person so unlawfully married, shall be separated by the definitive sentence or judgment of the high court of chancery: and the attorney general upon any information made to him of any such marriage, shall and may exhibit a bill to the Judge of the said Court, against any persons so unlawfully married, who shall be compelled upon oath to answer the same and upon such bill and answer, and the depositions of witnesses, where the same shall be nesessary, the said court shall, and may proceed to give judgment, and to declare the nullity of such marriage, and moreover may punish the parties by fine: and if the court see fit, may cause the parties to give bond with sufficient security, that they will not cohabit hereafter, in such penalty as the said court shall judge reasonable; Provided always, that no punishment by fine shall be imposed on any person until the same shall have been assessed by a jury, duly impannelled at the bar of the said court. And provided also, that nothing herein contained, shall be construed to render illegitimate the issue of any marriage so annulled."

To this information, the defendants, by counsel, filed their plea in these words: "These defendants by protestation not acknowledging or confessing all or any of the matters or things in the said bill contained to be true in manner and form as the same are therein and thereby alledged, to plead in bar and for plea say, that by the eighth section of the bill of rights made and declared on the 6th day of May 1776, entitled "A declaration of rights made by the representatives of the good people of Virginia, assembled in full and free convention; which rights do pertain to them, and their posterity, as the basis and foundation of government," it is expressively declared; That in all capital or criminal prosecutions, a man hath a right to demand the cause and nature of his accusation, to be confronted with the accusers and witnesses, to call for evidence in his favor, and to a speedy trial by an impartial Jury of his vicinage, without whose unanimous consent he cannot be found guilty, nor can he be compelled to give evidence against himself; that no man be deprived of his liberty, except by the law of the land or the judgment of his Peers."

That by an act of assembly, passed the fifth of December 1785, entitled "An act declaring that none shall be condemned without jury trial, and that justice shall not be sold or deferred; the Legislature explained its sense of the meaning of the above recited article of the Bill of Rights, by enacting: "That no freemen, shall be taken, or imprisoned or disesed of his freehold, or liberties or free customs, or be out lawed, or expelled or otherwise destroyed, nor shall the commonwealth, pass upon him, nor condemn him, but by lawful judgment of his Peers, or by the laws of the land." That these defendants are advised and insist, that any act of assembly contrary to or inconsistent with the said Bill of Rights or any part, or any article of the same, is unconstitutional void and of none effect; that the information of the Attorney General in this behalf, is to all intents and purposes a criminal prosecution; founded upon the act of Assembly referred to in the said information; and that the said act of assembly, is so far as the same enacts and provides, that any person who shall contract any marriage contrary thereto, "shall be separated by the definitive sentence or judgment of the high court of Chancery, and the attorney General, upon any information made to him of any such marriage, shall and may exhibit a Bill to the Judge of the said Court, against any persons so unlawfully married, who shall be compelled upon oath to answer the same; and upon such bill & answer, and depositions of witnesses, where the same shall be necessary, the said Court shall and may proceed to give judgment, and to declare the nullity of such marriage, and moreover may punish the parties by fine, and if the said court see fit, may cause the parties to give bond with sufficient security, that they will not cohabit hereafter, in any such penalty as the said Court shall judge reasonable. Provided always, That no punishment by fine shall be imposed on any person until the same shall have been assessed by a jury, duly impanelled at the bar of the said Court;" is a penal statute authorizing a criminal prosecution in the mode therein prescribed, and is contrary to & inconsistent with the above recited article of the said bill of rights, and is therefore unconstitutional, void and of none effect: and therefore doth not vest in this honorable Court any lawful jurisdiction to hear and determine the matters in and by the said information, of the attorney General alledged and charged against these defendants: and these defendants do therefore humbly demand the judgment of this court whether they or either of them ought to be compelled to make any other or further answer to the said information.

To this plea there was a general replication, and the cause was argued with very great ability by the attorney general for the commonwealth and by Mr. Wirt and Mr. Leigh for the defendants; and it being late in the term, the following decree was pronounced.

By the Chancellor.

This cause came on this day to be heard on the information of the attorney general, on behalf of the commonwealth, and the plea of the defendants, which the parties agreed might be considered as a demurrer to the information, and was argued by Council, on consideration whereof, the Court being of opinion with the attorney general that if this be a criminal prosecution, this Court should not entertain it: the Court then hath only to enquire, what is a crime, to come at the character of the prosecution, and the answer is, in the language of all the elementary writers upon the law, that a crime is an act committed, or omitted in violation of a public law, either for bidding or commanding it; the act under consideration, is a public law, the violation of it, then, is a crime: a prosecution for it, must of necessity be a criminal prosecution; hence it was not competent to the legislature to confer jurisdiction thereof upon this Court, for reasons assigned in the demands: therefore this Court considering so much of the act in question, as contrary to the Bill of Rights, and for that reason void, doth adjudge, order, and decree that the information be dismissed,

The Commonwealth vs. Broaddus.

To prevent misconception on the part of the public, it is proper to state, that the court of appeals has allowed an appeal from the decision in the foregoing case, and that it is now pending in that court.

Sag-Harbour, April 12.

VIOLENT TEMPEST.

On Monday evening last between eight and nine o'clock, we experienced in this place, a most tremendous shower of hail, accompanied with heavy thunder, and remarkably vivid lightning.—The scene was truly terrifying and awful, beyond description.

The quaking of the earth, the violence of the wind, the darkness of the night the roar of the thunder, the constant blaze of the lightning the dreadful rattling of the hail falling upon the roofs of houses, and dashing in the windows, all conspired to fill the minds of many of the inhabitants with the greatest alarm and consternation.

Numbers supposed that the day of judgment had actually come.

The wind was about North. The tempest continued nearly half an hour, many of the stones were more than three and a half inches in circumference. Some were picked up the next morning after on the road to Easthampton, more than an inch and a half in diameter.—All the injury sustained was in our windows, of which probably more than a thousand squares of glass were broken in this place. The extent of the tempest we have not learnt. It did not we understand reach far up the Island. To the East, the storm was probably more violent.

EARTHQUAKE.

The shock of an earthquak as felt by a number of the inhabitants of Satauket, and the adjacent towns, on the 29th of March at 3 o'clock in the morning. The shock was attended with a rumbling noise resembling distant thunder, and was so severe that the windows rattled and the houses were considerably agitated. The shock was also felt in this place.

The schooner Lydia, Johnston, from Quebec, for New York having sprung a leak at sea, was run on shore in Long Island Sound, near a place called the Old Man, on Tuesday morning last.—came passengers in the Lydia, Benjamin Powell, Jno. Brown, Elizabeth Smith, and Sarah Roberts all of whom have been prisoners to the Indians; by whom Mr. P's wife and five children were murdered. Mr P. himself, after having been cut and mangled in a shocking and most barbarous manner, was left on the floor of his own house for dead; but fortunately some of the Indians returned in a few days and finding him alive, took him bound up his wounds and by the aid of an Indian Doctor, cured him. Mr P. has lost the use of his right arm, by a cut with the Tomahawk in his shoulder. Mr P. states that he and three others were sold to a Mr Randal Mc' Donald an Indian trader, for five gallons of Rum. Mr Brown lost his wife and a number of children by the Indians Mrs. Smith and Roberts had both their husbands and several children murdered by the savages. Mr P. left this place on Wednesday last for New London and from thence to Providence, (R. I,) the place of his nativity. The other passengers in the schooner, have gone to New York.

Usury—Imprisonment for Debt—During the last session of the Legislature of Virginia, it was proposed to abolish the laws against Usury—The bill was laid on the table, and it is expected to be taken up next session—In the Legislature of New-York, it was proposed to abolish imprisonment for debt—this proposed law has been modified in this way for the city and county of N. Y. viz. "for all sums not exceeding $25, the debtor shall not be imprisoned, provided he makes oath, that he does not possess any property excepting such as is by law now exempted from execution."

In consequence of the decision of the Judges of Baltimore county court that the warrant issued by a Justice of the Peace for the state of Maryland did not legally authorise the arrest of Don Joseph Almeida under one of the provisions of the treaty between the U. States and Spain, as stated in this Gazette on the 14th inst. a warrant was obtained from Judge Duval, in virtue of which Almeida was again arrested yesterday—application has been made to the Judge to admit him to bail, the result of which is not yet known. Gaz.

ALEXANDRIA:
FRIDAY, APRIL 25, 1817.

DEMOCRAT
REPUBLICAN.

The National Intelligencer of Wednesday last, contains a very long letter signed "A DEMOCRAT," in answer to another signed "A REPUBLICAN," which had appeared in the City Gazette of the 29th ultimo—in which last mentioned letter Mr. Republican arraigned the late and present presidents, at the bar of the Union, of having appointed federalists to office. This charge Mr. Democrat has had the hardihood in his letter to acknowledge and to justify; nay to add a positive assertion that the particular federalist to whom Mr. Republican alluded as having been favored with an appointment in preference to the whole nest of rooks who with open beaks and voracious throttles continually din the ears of the chief magistrate with screams and cawings for food, is a man of integrity, ability and usefulness—yea, though a federalist.

What a group of novelties have we here presented to us!—A republican publicly arraigning Mr. Madison and Mr. Monroe—that republican encountered, and very keenly and successfully derided by a democrat—and finally, that democrat openly avowing his belief that a federalist may be deserving of a high confidential office, and denying the necessity or propriety of proscribing the whole federal body.

It is evident, from his letter, that Mr. Democrat knows who his adversary is, as every body who will read the letter of Mr. Republican must perceive his object. He is as the democrat says, one of those unfortunate republicans who was willing to accept an office if it had been offered to him, und who has been equally astonished and enraged that the President's estimate of his deserts fell short of his own:— a grievance very common in this life, but of which no people in this world have so little right to complain as the republicans of this country when speaking of their last president. If a fair account were made up of the merits of those gentlemen and the favors conferred on them by their presidents, and a balance were struck between them, we venture to affirm that the surplus of favor it refunded, would amount to a sum sufficient to reward all the real merit that has been left uncompensated in the party; and a great deal to spare.

We agree altogether with Mr. Democrat on this subject, without the least view to party, which we rejoice to perceive is so rapidly vanishing from the country. At the same time, we cannot but admire the intrepidity with which Mr. Republican stands forth the champion of an intolerance that would do no discredit to a Spanish friar, or to a candidate for office in the holy brotherhood. He not only is not one of your soft tongued talkers who praise liberality and fair play while they slyly smuggle the perquisite into their own purses—but he boldly disavows all pretensions to either—cries out with little regard to what the world may think of him, as the good men of old did, "crucify him, crucify him!" and would make, if he could, an unrelenting persecution of the federalists, an endless proscription of a whole denomination of the citizens of America, the terms upon which the president of this free republic should hold his seat.—If any thing could augment the badness of such a principle, it would be supplied by the avowal that he holds it for the attainment of a most sordid object—lucre.

For our parts we applaud the president, and we hope, and indeed we believe that his conduct on the points complained of by "Republican," will be regarded with unqualified approbation and gratitude by every denomination of the people of America, whether it go by the name of democrats, federalists or republicans—those only excepted who being in reality nothing sincere, and pretending to be what they pass for, only for the sake of office and emolument, cannot easily forgive those who snatch from them the object for which they have been laboring and cringing for years, perhaps in contradiction to the dictates of their opinions, and the suggestions of their conscience.

A true patriot who regarded the honor of his country and the felicity of its people in the aggregate, would rejoice and be thankful to God, and to all who under God have been instrumental in bringing it to pass, for the happy change that has taken place in the public feeling. As a christian he would delight in seeing the harmony and brotherly love which have succeeded to the deadly, envenomed party animosities which converted the country into one universal scene of infuriated contention. As a citizen he would survey the glorious prospect which that change now unfolds to our view with transport, and instead of harboring a wish to perpetuate those hateful distinctions which have so long reflected discredit upon the country, he would resist every attempt to renew them and execrate those who attempted it. For the paternal disposition which our new president has disclosed in this respect, he will no doubt be rewarded with the thanks of the people. And for ourselves we can say that it will give him a claim, in our mind, for much allowance in cases of future error. CURIO.

Extract of a letter from a respectable house in Pensacola, to a merchant in this place, dated March 12, 1817.

"A large sloop of war of about 600 tons and 250 picked men, called the Valency, formerly the American sloop of war Wasp, and a schooner o war called the Zanigoriana, both belonging to the Consulados, arrived yesterday from the Havanna. They have brought a supply of provisions for the garrison, artillery stores, etc. Orleans Gaz.

Criminal Court.—This being the day alloted to sentencing persons convicting at this court of crimes or mi-demeanors, Isaac Roget was accordingly expected to be put to the bar, and a large concourse of people appeared to hear the law pronounced. But in consideration of the peculiar situation of Roget's wife, sentence was postponed to the next court. Ev. Post.

Philadelphia, April 21.

On Friday afternoon last, in the District Court of the U. States, Judge Washington presiding, came on the trial of John Hart, one of the High Constables of the city of Philadelphia for having twice stopped the U. S. Mail Stage, for not conforming to the municipal regulations of said city.—1st the Western Mail Stage, for driving at a speed exceeding 6 miles an hour—and 2dly, the Eastern Mail Stage, for not having bells attached to the horses, when carried upon runners. The charge of the Judge, we understand, was in favor of the defendant, who was consequently acquitted by the Jury, on Saturday afternoon. This decision may be viewed as settling a very important question in relation to the right of local authorities to enforce obedience to their wholesome regulations, which have been hitherto in some degree slighted by those who considered they were acting under paramount authority.

PRESIDENT'S TOUR—The Georgetown Messenger of the 16th says, "we understand the President is preparing to make a tour of the U. States." The Messenger says "we are happy to learn that a season of comparative leisure is to be employed in a measure, which, we think cannot fail to be beneficial and satisfactory, both to the nation and to the president." He intimates that chief magistrate will have an oppo tunity of seeing the actual state of the country, and the people, &c. and thus may be better enabled to "recommend to congress, such measures as he may deem neccessary or expedient for the public good."

We have heard for some days of such a trip being in agitation—but we suspect, it has a more specific object than the Messenger points out: viz. to inspect the forts, military arrangements, &c. on the sea board and N. frontier. Richmond Enquirer.

The learned lawgiver.—The following curious correspondence is copied from the last Albany Advertiser. It will serve as a specimen of the learning and talents of some of our great speakers in the majority, and a doctor withal. After this let no man say that five dollars a day is an unreasonable compensation for the services and speeches of such men.

N. Y. E. Post.

ALBANY 12th of April 1817.

"Sir

Having observed in your Paper of this day A Continuanc of base design, Or Un accountable Negligence as relates to my observations in the Discussions of the Various Questions which have arisen on the Canal Bill, I am Constrained to Request that you will do me the Honnor to Omit in future to Publish in your Paper My observations on any question which has been or hereafter may be discussed in the House of Assembly while I shall have the Honnor of a Seat in that House—Unless you should consider it your duty, so to do in order to guard the Rights of the people against injury or imposition——I am Sir, yours &c. &c.

ISAAC SARGENT."

W L Stone Esqr Albany.

"My reply to the above elegant epistle shall be brief. And lest Mr. Sargent should again accuse me of perverting his language, I have been careful to give his letter verbatim et literatim.—As to the charge which the honorable gentleman from Washington intends to make in the above, that I have by "base design or unaccountable negligence," distorted his observations upon the canal bill, or misrepresented them, I am willing to make oath that it is not true. While I have been honored with a seat by the Speaker, as Reporter, I have reported faithfully. And I believe every gentleman in the House, who has paid particular attention to the debates, & examined my reports, will testify to this fact.

It will be understood that I have not pretended to give the debate entire. But I know that my reports have been substantially correct. If Mr. Sargent, in the hurry & extemporaneous speaking, has uttered sentiments which he did not intend, no censure can justly be attached to me. And whenever any error has occurred, I have been prompt to correct it.

I have one consolation, however, in this business, which is, that to deprive the public of Doct. Sargent's luminous speeches, will be of "no essential injury," either to the community at large, or to the literary world; and I can assure him, that I have heretofore registered his choice sayings, more for the purpose of preserving the regular chain of the debates, than for any other object. And now with the most perfect good nature, I take my leave of the Doctor, assuring him at the same time, of my perfect willingness to comply with his request. EDITOR."

New-York, April 22.

In addition to the summary in yesterday's Gazette, the Paris papers state, that the society for moderate reform (Broughton, etc.) met for the first time at the Freemason's Tavern, in London, on the 1st of March. This meeting declared itself against universal suffrage and annual parliaments. Sir Francis Burdett is one of its members.

A Paris paper of the 2d March states, that an American frigate remained before Palermo, to attend, as was believed, to the ratification of the arrangements concluded between the court of Naples and the United States.

A letter from Cadiz of the 11th Feb. states, that the expedition of 15,000 men, destined for South America, was ready to sail, with an escort of a ship of the line and several frigates.

The actual armed force of Austria is computed, in a German Journal, at 35000 men.

The motion for suspending the Habeas Corpus Act was made by Lord Castlereagh in the House of Commons, and carried, 273 to 98. The Common Council of London presented a memorial against it—as also did some of the Lords.

It was sir F. Burdett and not sir F. Baring, who presented to the House of Commons most of the petitions praying for reform.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

Beacon on Federal Point, near the New Inlet, North Carolina.

The above Beacon is now completed; is forty feet high, and stands on the main land, the north side of the entrance of Cape Fear River. It bears from Cape Look Out, west by south, distant 80 miles; and from the south end of Frying Pan Shoals, N. W. by N. distant 30 miles.—In running in where the Beacon bears W. or W by S. you will make a thick and high hammock of woods, called Merryck's Wood Bluff, before you make the Beacon; but should the Beacon bear to N. of W. you will make the Beacon and Bluff at the same time; the former of which may be seen, in clear weather, about 15 miles from a ship's deck, in about 10 or 11 fathoms water, and when first discovered has the appearance of a distant sail, As you approach the Beacon the water becomes gradually shoal. In 4 or 5 fathoms water, one mile and a half from the Beacon bearing W. S. W. W. to W. there is good anchorage, soft bottom.

In running in, bring the Beacon on the south end of the barracks, which you will continue until over the Bar, and near the Beach, and so along the Beach until you are in the river. On the Bar, at high water, 11 to 12 feet, at low water 5 feet only. The depth of water and channel, however, are subject to variation, so that it is not advisable for strangers, except in cases of necessity, to run in without a pilot.

JAMES KENNEDY & SON,

BOOKSELLERS KING STREET

Have just received from LEE'S PATENT MEDICINE Store, No. 46 Maiden Lane, N. York,

A FRESH SUPPLY

Of the following genuine Medicines.

For the prevention and cure of Bilious and Malignant Fevers, is recommended

Hahn's Anti-Bilious Pills.

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings, in several parts of the West Indies, and the Southern & Middle States, particularly in N. York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Petersburg, Richmond, Norfolk, Edenton, Wilmington, Charleston, and Savannah. The testimony of a number of persons at each of the above places can be adduced, who have reason to believe, that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives, when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy, founded on mere assertion.

It is not, indeed, presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience, for believing that a dose of these Pills, taken once in every two weeks, during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventative; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases, their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate, and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation, and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to cary off superfluous bile & prevent its morbid secretions—to restore & amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which is so often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance—they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

HAMILTON'S WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES.

Which have cured an immense number of persons of both sexes, of every age, and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from worms, and from obstructions or foulness in their stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of, as operating with violence; on the contrary, a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and perfectly in It contains nothing but what is constitution. nocent, and is also mild in its operation cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old, should no worms exist in the body; but will, without pain or griping, cleanse the stomach and bowels, of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms, and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious n carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion

DESCRIPTION OF WORMS.

And the symptoms by which they are known:

Worms which infest the human body, are chiefly of four kinds, viz.—The Teres, or large round worm; the Ascarides, or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitina, or short, flat, white worm; and lastly, the Tænia, or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long, and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food, and sometimes voracious; purging, with slimy & fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; slow fever, with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face hoated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms, should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success, in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent 'the vomiting and purging of chint'—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys the hands of the infant part of our citizens it is likewise the mildest and most certain emedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number, when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint.
